

What do you see in the “Rearview Mirror” of your life that needs to be cleared before you can move forward with your vision?

What obstacles are holding you back from creating your vision?

Where are your blind spots in life? What are you not seeing?

Who helps you see things more clearly?

Are you clear about what you want for your future?

Are you consciously creating or just taking what comes your way?