

For more information visit globalhealingresponse.com

© Ellen Bintz 2027

GLOBAL HEALING RESPONSE | 2027

From Grounding to Reconnection

We have learned to find our center. Now we are invited to widen our circle.

In 2026, our theme of Grounding invited us to remember what holds us. Through Presence, Anchoring, Resilience, and Coherence, we practiced finding steadiness in ourselves, in our relationships, and in the world around us.

As we look toward 2027, a question emerges: What do we do with the steadiness we have cultivated?

We begin to reach outward. Our theme for 2027 is Reconnection—returning to ourselves, reaching toward one another, and reimagining what we can create together.

Reconnection does not ask us to return to the way things were. It invites us to heal what has been fractured while making room for new relationships, possibilities, and shared action.

Our Journey Through the Year

January–March | Remembering
Reconnecting with the values, wisdom, and relationships that sustain us.

April–June | Belonging
Recognizing our place in the circle and making room for one another.

July–September | Compassion
Widening our circle of care, especially across differences.

October–December | Co-Creation
Bringing our shared intentions and gifts into compassionate action.

May we carry the grounding of 2026 into a year of meaningful reconnection.

Global Healing Response Quarterly Intention

2027 Theme: Reconnection

Returning to ourselves. Reaching toward one another.
Reimagining what we can create together.

January–February–March

Focus: Remembering

Quote: “The more we remember our connections, the more fully we can live them.” — Global Healing Response

Intention: We remember what sustains us and renew our connection to ourselves, one another, and the living world.

Guiding Question: What matters most for me to remember?

Meditation

Let your attention settle on the breath.
Recall a person, place, or practice that has helped you feel connected.
Notice what that memory awakens in your body.
Silently say: I remember what connects me.
Rest for a few breaths in gratitude.

Labyrinth Walk: Returning to What Matters

Intention: To reconnect with what sustains us.

Entry: As you enter, remember a value, relationship, or experience that has guided you.

Center: Pause with what feels essential. Let it be enough.

Return: Carry one remembered connection into your next conversation or action.

Optional Phrase: I remember what matters.

Global Healing Response Quarterly Intention

2027 Theme: Reconnection

Returning to ourselves. Reaching toward one another.
Reimagining what we can create together.

April–May–June

Focus: Belonging

Quote: “We are each other’s harvest; we are each other’s business; we are each other’s magnitude and bond.” — Gwendolyn Brooks

Intention: We nurture belonging by recognizing our shared humanity and making space for each person in the circle.

Guiding Question: Where do I experience belonging—and how can I offer it to others?

Meditation

Feel the support beneath you.
Remember a time you felt welcomed, included, or truly seen.
Let that feeling settle gently around your heart.
Imagine extending the same welcome to someone else.
Breathe with the words: There is room in the circle.

Labyrinth Walk: Finding Our Place

Intention: To recognize and extend belonging.

Entry: As you begin, consider the people and places where you feel at home.

Center: Pause and acknowledge that you, too, have a place in the larger circle.

Return: Carry a spirit of welcome into your day.

Optional Phrase: There is room for us.

Global Healing Response Quarterly Intention

2027 Theme: Reconnection

Returning to ourselves. Reaching toward one another.
Reimagining what we can create together.

July–August–September

Focus: Compassion

Quote: “If you want others to be happy, practice compassion. If you want to be happy, practice compassion.” — Dalai Lama

Intention: We practice compassion by meeting ourselves and others with care, curiosity, and an open heart.

Guiding Question: Whose experience might I understand more deeply if I listened with compassion?

Meditation

Bring a gentle awareness to your heart.
Notice someone who could use kindness, including yourself.
Without trying to fix anything, wish them ease and support.
Allow that wish to widen toward those whose lives differ from yours.
Rest in the simple intention: May we meet one another with care.

Labyrinth Walk: Widening the Circle

Intention: To expand our capacity for compassionate presence.

Entry: As you enter, notice any place in your life calling for tenderness.

Center: Pause and offer compassion without judgment.

Return: Carry an open heart into an encounter or choice today.

Optional Phrase: May compassion guide me.

Global Healing Response Quarterly Intention

2027 Theme: Reconnection

Returning to ourselves. Reaching toward one another.
Reimagining what we can create together.

October–November–December

Focus: Co-Creation

Quote: “Alone we can do so little; together we can do so much.” — Helen Keller

Intention: We bring our intentions and gifts together to imagine and nurture a more connected, compassionate world.

Guiding Question: What becomes possible when we create together?

Meditation

Settle into the rhythm of your breathing.
Recall one connection strengthened during this year.
Imagine that connection becoming a small act of shared care.
See many such acts joining, each contributing something unique.
Breathe with the possibility: Together, we can begin.

Labyrinth Walk: Weaving a Shared Future

Intention: To move from connection into shared possibility.

Entry: As you enter, remember what this year has taught you about connection.

Center: Pause and imagine one possibility that could grow through cooperation.

Return: Take one small step toward making it real with others.

Optional Phrase: Together, we begin.